

The Legal Aid Society

Parole Reform

Governor Hochul signed into law The Community Supervision Revocation Reform Act which includes some of the most sweeping parole reforms in the nation. It represents a major step forward in the fight to end mass incarceration, advance racial equality, and bolster due process in New York.

We are helping Legal Aid use multimedia storytelling, marketing strategy, and technology in an unprecedented way for public defender and civil legal service provider organizations. All of this work supports the life-saving work of over 2200 LegalAid attorneys and staff who selflessly serve New Yorkers.

"I'm especially proud to this public education campaign — the organization's single largest community education effort."
VINCENT VILLANO
CHIEF COMMUNICATIONS OFFICER
LEGAL AID SOCIETY

SERVICES

Branding
Advertising/Outreach Campaign
Video and Social Media
Communication Strategy

YOUR NEW PAROLE RIGHTS

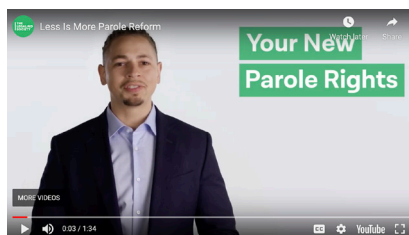

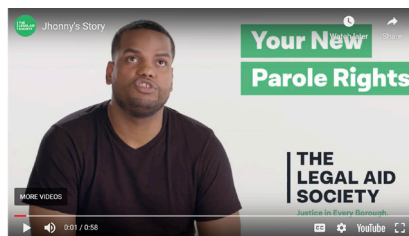

"Every 30 days
without a violation
gives me 30 days
off my parole
sentence."

—Johnny, like many Legal Aid clients, reduced his parole sentence by half with Earned Time Credits

Don't let your past get in the way of your future.
Learn more: legalaidnyc.org/parolereform

THE LEGAL AID SOCIETY
Justice in Every Borough

YOUR NEW PAROLE RIGHTS

"Every 30 days
without a violation
gives me 30 days
off my parole
sentence."

—Johnny, like many Legal Aid clients, reduced his parole sentence by half with Earned Time Credits

Don't let your past get in the way of your future.
Learn more: legalaidnyc.org/parolereform

THE LEGAL AID SOCIETY
Justice in Every Borough

